Cultivating Health Center Operations Training (CHCO)

Cultivating Health Center Operations (CHCO) is an intermediate to advanced level training for health center operations leaders and managers. You will learn techniques to align the right people, processes, and places to support operational efficiencies and responses to an ever-changing environment. Whether your health center's strategic goals include becoming a patient centered medical home (PCMH), expanding sites or services, or improving quality, financial and other performance measures, this training will provide strategies and best practices to help you achieve success. The sessions demonstrate how health centers can improve the patient experience by ensuring appropriate staff, processes, and procedures are efficient and patient centered.

Learning Objectives:

By the end of this two-day training, participants will be able to:

- ▶ Learn the step-by-step approach to initiating a culture transformation and how to identify key performance indicators to assure success.
- ▶ Build and optimize a Simplified Schedule through practical exercises, focusing on improving capacity utilization, reducing no-shows, and enhancing overall workflow efficiency.
- ▶ Identify and articulate key strategies for fostering a culture of innovation.
- ▶ Discuss the roles of health center leadership, governance, and staff members in advancing a Culture of Safety.
- ▶ Learn how critical operational strategies such as scheduling and empanelment, care coordination, staffing, and patient experience can impact and be impacted by other departmental strategies.
- ▶ Discover how to implement policies and procedures and measure their success.

This training will focus on the following Chief Operating Officer (COO) Core Competencies:

- ▶ Operations (Level 3)
- ▶ Personnel Management (level 3)
- ▶ Leadership (Level 3)

Extreme Makeover Scheduling Edition: Optimizing for Patients & Productivity Part 1

The traditional scheduling template is often a mismatch of staffing needs, Patient-Centered Medical Home (PCMH) requirements, and access demands, leaving entry-level staff responsible for ensuring a smooth day. In this two-part session, healthcare leaders will uncover the root causes and inefficiencies in current scheduling templates and their impact on staff and patient experiences.

Participants will receive hands-on examples and guidance on how to create a better schedule template that accommodates (almost) everyone's needs and works well for patients, too.

Participants are encouraged to bring a HIPAA-compliant copy of their current schedule template, appointment types, and rules. Through practical exercises, you'll learn to optimize your schedule for better capacity utilization, reduced no-shows, and increased visits, while minimizing staff and patient frustration. This session will provide the tools to create a dynamic, patient-centered schedule that improves productivity and patient care.

Staying Safe: Tips to Establish a Culture of Safety at your Health Center

Establishing a Culture of Safety (CoS) at your health center requires a commitment of health center leadership to develop a blame-free, just culture by promoting a non-punitive reporting system, focusing on preventing errors, sharing safety events, training health center staff, and engaging the health center governance. This session will provide the steps to establish a blame-free, just culture at a health center, share key patient safety concepts evaluated by regulatory bodies and guide health centers in incorporating regulatory expectations into their patient safety and quality programs.

Exploring the Role Day to Day Operations Plays in Interdepartmental Activities

As health centers continue to build a quality-driven culture, it is essential to understand the interdepartmental and programmatic impact of our day to day activities. In today's HC world activities cannot be siloed in departments; expected outcomes, resource allocation, and data utilization must be strategic and interdepartmentally aligned. Participants will be introduced to operational tools, key performance indicators and operational strategies that can help achieve aligned goals between clinical, finance and HR. This session will explore the practicality of delivering upon organizational goals using aligned data and activities between departments through "trickle down operational planning."

Equity- Driven Operations: Cultivating Fairness Through Policy and Procedure Development

This session is designed to empower participants to create policies and procedures that promote equity and inclusion within their organizations. Attendees will learn the importance of integrating equity considerations into operational frameworks, ensuring that guidelines are fair, transparent, and supportive of diverse needs. Through case studies and collaborative exercises, participants will gain practical skills in developing and implementing policies that not only enhance operational efficiency but also foster an inclusive and equitable workplace culture. This session is essential for leaders committed to driving change and embedding equity into the core of their operations.
